

The Washington Times, a strong believer in education, has developed a program specifically designed for schools called CLASS ACT, one of the areas' leading NEWSPAPER IN EDUCATION PROGRAMS! CLASS ACT provides newspapers, educational supplements, curriculum materials, educational contests and classroom support at little or no cost to the school. CLASS ACT puts emphasis on Character building, Literacy, Academic excellence, Service to other and Skills for life.

This is where your support is needed! The Washington Times covers the cost of all of the ancillary materials plus the first 12.5¢ of the newspaper. Your donation will cover the additional 12.5¢, allowing the students to receive the newspaper absolutely FREE!

Your donation encourages students to develop their reading ability, increase their social awareness, build character, enrich their civic education, plus much, much more! CLASS ACT also promotes social and emotional skills by supplying children with educational materials on topics such as "Conflict Resolution" and "Random Acts of Kindness." Your support is needed today. Together we can make a difference in the quality of the education our children receive.

Mission Statement:

Class Act, The Washington Times Newspaper in Education program, forms partnerships with school personnel, parents, students and other for-profit, non-profit and public sector organizations to build a better future for our students. Class Act partners work together to promote goals that inspire students to build character, make responsible choices, respect others, offer service to others and achieve academic excellence resulting in better grades and higher standardized test scores.

YES! I want to become a partner with Class Act. Please fill out the information below and return it with your invoice in the enclosed envelope.
